Coty Seeks Assembly's Approval for De Gaulle

Wants Parliament to Go On Vacation and Permit General to Take Over

Paris—Charles de Gaulle waited at home today while the government's financial weakness; the loss of overseas territory, and the fall of get the national assembly to French prestige abroad, all of which exasperated the army and the rightists to the point of rebellion.

Summoned from his home at Colombey-les-deux-Ecluses, De Gaulle told the president he still refused to deal directly with the political parties which he blames for France's troubles.

That left it up to Coty to do the job which a prospective premier usually handles himself—lining up enough assembly votes for approval. Acting as the highest ranking campaign manager in French history, Coty prepared for another weary round of talks. He was expected to see Guy Mollet, the socialist leader; Pierre Pflimlin of the Catholic movement; the republican movement; Angélique Pinay of the conservative independents; Edouard Daladier of the radical socialists, and others.

Say Airliner Menaced by Jet Bomber

San Francisco—The civil aeronautics administration today had a report by a United Airlines pilot and 15 of his 57 passengers charging that an air force B47, jet bomber, "deliberately buzzed" their DC7 near Salina, Kan.

One of the passengers, senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California, dozed during the incident yesterday. He commented after landing here: "Such things aren't pleasant. I'm glad it was a near miss."

Col. Gordon E. Hein, commanding officer of Schilling Air Force base of the strategic air command, which is near Salina, said his base had no planes aloft at the time the airliner was reported passing.

Within 1,000 Feet Earlier, given an apparently erroneous time, Hein had said several Schilling planes were aloft in the area.

He said Salina is on a transcontinental air route also used by military planes flying coast to coast.

United Pilot W. K. Wolfe estimated the 4-engine B47 flashing banner headlines calling for demonstrations against De Gaulle, to prevent their circulation in the provinces. The city edition was allowed to appear on Paris newsstands as usual.

In the middle was the mass of ordinary Frenchmen—apparently not very interested.

Many blamed this disinterest for the underlying factors in the present crisis—the faction-ridden, ineffectual parliament.

GM Rejects Bid for Temporary Accord With Reuther Union

UAW Hoping to Reach Agreement In Talks With Ford, Chrysler

Detroit — General Motors' contract with the United Auto Workers expired today as the company rejected a last-minute bid by the UAW to work out a temporary agreement covering 300,000 GM workers.

The UAW then centered its attention on Ford and Chrysler in hopes of working out new agreements with both companies before current 3-year contracts run out Sunday midnight.

GM, like Ford and Chrysler, stood steadfast through weeks of negotiations on its offer to extend the current agreement for two years.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen he was "disappointed but not bitter" over failure to agree on a new GM contract.

Reuther, weary after a last-minute bargaining session that ran all day and up to the midnight expiration time, obviously was unhappy as he disclosed that for the first time in 21 years UAW members at GM would have to work without a union contract.

In previous years when contracts between UAW and the automotive Big Three ran out, the pacts were extended on a week to week basis until new agreements were concluded. This time, GM charged the union with bad faith in bargaining and declined a temporary extension despite union requests.

Both the union and the company have issued instructions on how to operate without a contract.

The terms were set Wednesday by GM. They generally follow the contract that expired last night — except the company will quit collecting members' dues for the union and UAW membership will not be a condition of employment at GM.

No Casualties As Submarine Sinks Off Oahu

Undersea Craft Lost After Being Rammed by Cruiser

Honolulu — The submarine Stickleback sank last night off Oahu Island 5½ hours after being rammed by the destroyer escort Silverstein during anti-submarine exercises. No one was injured.

The Stickleback was submerged when the collision occurred but immediately surfaced and tied up alongside the Silverstein while her crew of 74 men and 8 officers escaped, the navy said.

Despite intensive salvage efforts, the submarine flooded and sank in 1,500 fathoms 19 miles southwest of the channel entrance to Pearl Harbor.

The Silverstein reported a damaged bow but said she did not need assistance.

Inquiry Planned

A navy crash boat returned 38 of the Stickleback's crew to Pearl Harbor. Lt. Cmdr. Q. R. Schulz, the sub's skipper, and the other 43 headed back aboard the submarine rescue vessel Greenlet, which was ordered from Pearl Harbor on word of the collision.

The Silverstein is captained by Cmdr. C. S. Swift.

A board of investigation will be ordered to determine the cause of the collision, the navy said.

The 309-foot Stickleback, snorkel equipped, was built at the Mare Island, Calif., naval shipyard in 1945. Surface speed of the 1,526-ton vessel was 20 knots, 17½ knots submerged.

The submarine had only one World War II mission in which she saved Japanese survivors from a torpedoed ship.

She won a combat efficiency rating of excellent in 1955.

The Stickleback was paid for by war bonds purchased by residents of Yakima county, Wash., and she joined the Pacific fleet in the closing days of World War II.

Oil Firms Deny Charges by U. S.

29 Accused of Conspiracy to Agree on Prices

Alexandria, Va. — Oil company officials say federal price fixing conspiracy indictments against their firms are "preposterous . . . ridiculous . . . wholly unwarranted."

Denials came from most of the 29 oil firms indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on a charge of conspiring to fix prices of crude oil and auto gasoline in a 43-state area. The one-count indictment, which named companies but no individuals, capped an investigation that began in March, 1957.

Prices Up in 1957

Many of the nation's biggest oil companies were among the 29 charged with violating Section I of the Sherman anti-trust law. Conviction could bring a maximum penalty of a $50,000 fine.

Crude oil prices were boosted generally by 35 cents a barrel in January, 1957. Later, the retail price of gasoline was increased generally by 1 cent a gallon.

Several months earlier, Egyptian seizure of the Suez canal had caused an oil shortage in western Europe. And shortly before the domestic price increases, then Atty Gen Herbert Brownell authorized American oil firms to take cooperative action in supplying needed oil to Europe.

Wants Agenda To be Expanded

Nelson Asks Thomson To Include Other Issues for Legislature

Madison — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Gaylord Nelson Thursday night called on Gov. Vernon Thomson to enlarge the agenda to be considered by a special session of the legislature.

In announcing plans for the special meeting, Thomson indicated he will ask the lawmakers to consider only legislation that would make Wisconsin's unemployed eligible for an additional 13 weeks of jobless benefits at the current rate.

Nelson said he and 38 other Democratic legislators, have agreed that a special session should also consider increasing the size of unemployment compensation payments, now at a maximum of $38 weekly.

Nelson, a state senator, said his colleagues agreed that the session should also take up urban renewal problems. He said the present state law is holding up projects that would be of tremendous benefit in relieving unemployment.

Nelson spoke at a meeting of his supporters.

Final Honors for 2 Unknown Heroes

Bodies Lowered Into Twin Crypts in Arlington Cemetery

BY ELTON C. FAY

Washington — Amid highest honors, two unknown Americans who fell in World War II and Korea got to their final rest today beside the nameless soldier who died three wars ago.

From the capitol rotunda where they have lain in state, a great cortege bears them across the city and over the Potomac river to the white marble amphitheater in Arlington National cemetery.

During the afternoon they receive the nation's grateful homage before the identical bronze caskets are lowered into twin crypts flanking the tomb of the unknown soldier of World War I.

Brief Citations

President Eisenhower, with brief remarks, will place upon each casket the medal of honor, with the simple word "Valor" on a bar above a star. There is no higher United States military award.

The phrasing of the citations for the medals, like the simple dignity of the single word on the medal, was brief.

One said that the unknown

American exemplified "the selflessness of all our fallen heroes of the second world war who, in courageous defense of the ideals of democracy against aggression, gave their lives to preserve our noble heritage."

The other cited a man "symbolic of the gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty of all members of the armed forces of the United States who gave their lives in the Korean conflict while defending the ideals of freedom and democracy."

Mrs. Alice Bell Morgan, Financial Expert, Dies

Providence, R. I. — Mrs. Alice Bell Morgan, 79-year-old financial expert of Bristol, R. I., who in 1956 won $32,000 on the TV show, "The $64,000 Question," died in Jane Brown hospital here today. She had suffered a stroke last September and had been hospitalized since that time.

Amazing Unity Replaces Old Enmity Of French and Moslems in Algiers

BY DAVID MASON

Algiers — A little group of foreign journalists, making sure nobody thought they were French, walked through the streets of Algiers' famed, filthy casbah today.

"What about your rebellion against the French?" they asked the Algerians jamming the Moslem quarter. "Has there really been a reconciliation between the French and you Moslems?"

Still Waiting

Across the city, on the sun-swept square in front of Government House, an endless series of balcony speakers proclaimed daily that "today we do not speak of the Moslems and the French of Algeria—we speak only of 10 million Frenchmen."

In the casbah a Moslem butcher points to the sky with his knife and says with an uncertain smile, "Only Allah knows if the fighting is really over."

On the Rue de Lion, more a startling "reconciliation" between thousands of Moslems and French. By the thousands they embraced and stood together to cheer Charles de Gaulle and the rousing talk of a new Algeria, an Algeria of 10 million Frenchmen instead of a colony of one million French rulers and nine million subject Moslems.

No one can doubt there is a new and bewildering current running through this tortured country.

Equality Question

But some day the shouting from the balconies will be still, and the generals and the politicians will have settled their differences.

Then will the French in Algeria give the Moslems the equality they have denied them for three and a half years?

Will the French colonists give up the paramount position they defied Paris to defend? Will the Moslem rebels abandon their fight for independence to rally around the cross of Lorraine?

Injunction Threatened Over Term Life Policies

Arthur J. Coffey Wants Explanation Of Low Bid Rejection

The threat of injunction to stop the city from putting in force $2,000 term life insurance policies for city employees was made Thursday by Arthur J. Coffey, 117 N. Appleton street, in a letter to the mayor and city council.

Coffey maintains he submitted the low bid to furnish the insurance, but the bid was rejected and he wasn't given a reason why.

The letter, Coffey says, is a necessary legal step—a taxpayer's protest—before an injunction can be obtained. The letter is as follows:

"That unless due consideration is given to the lowest bidder, whereby he is allowed to discuss with the board of public works or the city council as to why the lowest bid did not qualify, commencement of a taxpayer's action to enjoin the purchase of said group life insurance upon the lives of the city employees will be seriously considered."

Wants Opportunity
"All I want," he said, "is an opportunity to have them tell me why and time for rebuttal."

Since the board of public works has changed membership since the group life decision was made, it is expected that discussion by Coffey and aldermen, if it comes, will come on the council floor. The letter will be introduced at the next council meeting at 7:30 Wednesday night.

Coffey's letter lists these reasons for his filing of the protest:

"1. That the board of public works failed to consult or converse with any of the lower bidders.

"2. That there were approximately 15 proposals, submitted by various companies, whose monthly cost was less than the monthly cost of the chosen company.

"3. That the coverage provided by all proposals was the same, namely, to pay a named beneficiary the sum of $2,000 in the event of death of any city employee.

Cites Cost Difference
"4. That the difference in monthly cost to the city of Appleton between the lowest bid submitted of $220 per month per employee (Coffey's bid), and the company to whom the bid was awarded of $272 per month per employee (Equitable Life Assurance company of New York through Carl Sherry, 302 E. Washington street) represents a monthly savings of $139.36 and an annual savings of $1,672.32 to the taxpayers of the city of Appleton."

State Traffic Deaths Show Slow Decline

Official motor vehicle department tabulations show April was the fifth consecutive month to show a reduction in Wisconsin traffic accident deaths, and that the death toll for the first four months of this period was 15 per cent below that of the same period a year ago, Commissioner Melvin Larson reported today.

The traffic death toll, January through April, reached 207 this year compared to 243 in 1957. The month of April accounted for 55 traffic fatalities and 59 last year. Out of the gamie county had four deaths through April, the same as a year ago.

The 4-month pedestrian toll, however, was only slightly low-er, with 38 deaths this year as against 39 lives lost during a similar period a year ago.

Traffic death totals for county-wide in this area, including both urban and rural accidents, in-cluded Brown county, two through April this year com-pared to nine a year ago; Calumet, one this year, two in 1957; Shawano, five this year, nine in 1957; Waupaca, three year showed 106,000 exhibits. The state legislature has tried to encourage junior exhibits and has fashioned its state aid policy with a view to putting the emphasis in fair operations upon rural achievements and rural interest in agriculture and the company announced.

KHS Graduates Advised To Appreciate America

Miss May Roach Addresses Seniors At Commencement

Kaukauna — Kaukauna High school graduates were advised Thursday night to learn to appreciate America, to appreciate the American way of life and to learn to work to keep what we have by Miss May Roach, commencement speaker.

Miss Roach recently retired after 42 years on the faculty at Stevens Point State college. She advised young people to develop their latent talents and warned them to be careful of getting into a rut.

This is a great nation where people on different levels have the opportunity to speak on even terms, said the speaker, and it is up to the young people of this nation to keep this way of life. We have no guarantee that this form of life can go on forever, it could be in the same situation that France now finds itself but it is up to the young people coming up to preserve our national heritage, advised Miss Roach.

Strive throughout your life to live democracy and Christianity a little bit better, said the speaker, as she gave examples from her life about people who attempted to live according to democratic and Christian principles.

In closing she asked graduates to remember what America was, why it was important and what young people have to do to keep it the way it is. Remember these phrases as you take your place in the world, advised Miss Roach. "God gave me hills to climb and strength for climbing."

The program opened with "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the high school band under the direction of Elwood Bleick, director. The Rev. Walter Tyson, pastor of the Assembly of God church, gave the invocation followed by a welcome by Miss Margie Ryan, class president.

After a selection by the band, John Rogers spoke on the need for scientific training after which Thomas Whitman told of the importance of studying the humanities along with the need for technological study. Both youths were elected speakers for the senior class.

T. H. Boebel, superintendent of schools, introduced the guest speaker as well as congratulated graduates. The band then played two numbers followed by a selection by the Mixed chorus under the direction of Adrian McGrath. Julian Bichler, principal, introduced the 1958 graduating class after which Marshall Bayorgeon, president of the board of education, awarded the diplomas.

The senior class then sang the school song followed by benediction by the Rev. Mr. Tyson and the national anthem by the graduating class and audience.

Gadget May Help, but Molner Refuses to Plug Commercial

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

Let us devoutly hope that I'm not getting querulous in my middle age, but I am getting a bit upset about a man who has invented a contrivance to elevate the legs while you sleep.

I not only have no objection to somebody sleeping with his legs up in the air, if it helps him; I'm in favor of it. And some times it will.

But here's the hitch. This gentleman has been bombarding me with letters requesting and insisting that I write an article about his leg-lifter, and even that I send him the names and addresses of people who have leg cramps, so he can offer his healing apparatus to them, commercially.

Well, now! I have no objection to his commercial aims. I shall not be put out if some or many leg cramp victims find that his jigger helps relieve them of pains. Rather, I'll be very pleased.

No Names, No Plugs But I'm certainly not going to give out the names of people who write to me. It is, I believe, thoroughly understood that anyone who writes to me does so in complete confidence, and it's going to stay that way. That's the most important thing.

In the next place, I am conscientiously opposed to the idea of plugging any commercial product. Ideas and information, yes. Trademarks, no. So the fact that this gentleman wants to sell his leg-lifter-upper for a certain sum of money is no reason for me to advertise his business. So I'm not going to.

The man admits to me that he has had some (although few) of his gadgets returned to him because they didn't work. Then he adds that he will give me one of his contrivances to give to a friend or relative and "you can promise them that they will have no more leg

Memorial Day, 1958

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on Life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few.
On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And Glory guards, with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

Thus 'neath their parent turf they rest,
Far from the gory field,
Borne to a Spartan mother's breast:
On many a bloody shield;
The sunshine of their native sky
Smiles sadly on them here,
And kindred eyes and hearts watch by
The heroes' sepulchre.

The bodies of two more Americans who died fighting for their country are today being honored with the original Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery. These two, picked from thousands of unidentified dead, represent the 400,000 Americans who were killed in World War II and 54,000 who

Provincial Milwaukee

Regional planning is not a reality in Wisconsin, three years after the legislature passed a law authorizing the governor or an agency designated by him to set up regional planning commissions.

Much as we dislike to correct an esteemed contemporary, we must point out that this statement is not true. Wisconsin has had a regional planning commission for over two years — the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission. This commission has maintained offices at Kimberly with a full-time professional planning director for more than a year. Members of the commission are the cities of Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha, the villages of Kimberly, Little Chute and Combined Locks, and the towns of Neenah, Menasha and Grand Chute. The total population of these municipalities is estimated at between 110,000 and 120,000.

True, the commission has not done much actual planning yet, but setting up the first regional planning project in the state has been a pioneering effort and the commission has had to feel its way into uncharted territory. It is testimony to the determination of the commission's leaders to never returned from the United Nations "police action" in Korea.

Honoring them does not necessarily place approval on the policies of their nation which in part led to their deaths. The soldiers themselves often did not know or understand or care for what they were fighting; the handful who chose Red China showed us that. But because these men — and women — did go to war, because they were loyal to their country, their comrades or some vague, unexpressed feeling of right and honor, the United States remains the freest nation in a world where millions are oppressed. Without undue sentimentality, we may bow our heads to honor the millions who fought and suffered and died from the time of the Revolution to the more recent bitter encounters far from home. Tyranny of men or governments was and continues to be the enemy.

As we watch the parades on Memorial day, place flowers and flags on the graves and picnic under the wide blue sky, let us pray that no more bodies need join the three in Arlington cemetery. But let us remember too that, to have liberty, we must eternally take that risk.

move ahead as quickly as possible that there is now before the governing bodies of the member municipalities a proposal for financing a regional master plan to be completed by 1961.

Furthermore this commission not only was created under the law passed by the legislature in 1955, but that law came into being largely through the efforts of Fox Cities legislators, especially Sen. William Draheim of Neenah. If the people of the southeastern corner of the state ever manage to set up a regional planning commission they not only can look to the Fox valley for an example of one already in operation, but they can thank this area for making it possible for them to have one in the first place.

The attitude of some Milwaukeeans occasionally reminds us of the old story about New Yorkers who think that everything west of the Hudson is a desert populated principally by cowboys and Indians, except for a few civilized villages such as Hollywood and Las Vegas. It wouldn't hurt the citizens of Wisconsin's largest city to be reminded now and then that communities in other parts of the state show progressive tendencies too, in fact often are way out ahead of Milwaukee.

Can the Chemists Beat the Lamprey?

A startling example of the effectiveness of applied science to the problems of everyday life was given to the people of this area recently by Arnie J. Suomela, commissioner of the United States Fish and Wildlife service, with the announcement that a program of artificial propagation of lake trout would be undertaken immediately to restore trout to Lakes Superior and Michigan.

As everyone in this section knows the sea lamprey, an eel-like creature which invaded the upper lakes in recent years, has practically wiped out the trout in Lake Michigan and is well on the way to doing the same in Lake Superior. The idea of hatching trout to plant in the lakes would not be considered if the lamprey were to continue to prey on them. However, there is every prospect that the chemists have found a way to eliminate the lamprey.

The war on the lamprey began with the installation of electric wires in rivers where the lampreys come to spawn. The wires prevent the lampreys from reaching the tributary streams to deposit their eggs. Thousands of them have been killed by the wires during the past three years. But this method is slow and expensive, and while it might be able to hold the lamprey population steady it probably never could succeed in eliminating them.

Not long ago a chemical was discovered which kills the lamprey larvae and at the same time causes no injury to other forms of life in the stream or to animals which might drink the water. That discovery raised the hopes of all that the lamprey was on the way to oblivion. Now, however, a new chemical has been discovered which has all of the safety qualities of the first but is said to be four times as effective against the lamprey.

The lamprey, through many generations of unpopularity with both fish and man, has set up some careful defenses against extinction. It is by no means sufficient to kill off all of the lampreys in a lake. That would scarcely be noticed, for the lamprey has arranged to have no less than five and possibly seven generations in the form of eggs and larvae in the spawning streams. If all of the adults coming back to spawn could be killed by electric wires, it would require up to seven years to clean out a lake. Of course any such score as seven years of 100 per cent efficiency is more than any one could hope for.

Those working with the new chemical report that they got a 100 per cent kill in streams where the new method was tried. Further probing of the stream bottom with electric shockers, after the chemical treatment, failed to discover a single live lamprey of any age. The time required for the stream treatment was much shorter than had been expected which may reduce the time and the cost of this war on the lamprey.

It may be that a larva immune to the chemical will escape death here and there around the lakes and live to develop a new generation of lampreys immune to this particular poison. That is a rather common barrier to the elimination of any species. But as things stand at the moment, the outlook is rather dark for the lamprey.

Trees are Our Heritage; Why Destroy Them?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In one of your editorials you said, "One of the principal reasons this is a beautiful city is its lovely tree-studded parks, the more we divert park land for other uses and cut down trees that have been years growing, the more we destroy Appleton's beauty."

There are many citizens of Appleton who feel this same way about the cutting down of the beautiful trees on streets that are widened, like N. Division street and now N. Richmond street. There are some in our city government who would even like to cut down the beautiful trees on N. Drew street by widening it to the extent of taking off six feet on each side.

We can't replace the trees on N. Division or N. Richmond streets, but let's save those on all our other streets. Is it a sign of progress to widen our streets to the point that we lose our beautiful old trees, one of the things for which Appleton is noted? Even strangers and visitors in our city comment on the beauty of Appleton's trees. Other cities our size haven't found it necessary to widen streets to the extent of losing trees, but they have solved their parking and traffic problems by permitting parking on one side only on their streets.

Let's save our trees and not let some people who may be in positions of responsibility rob us of our heritage.

'We Have a Report That a Newspaperman Asked You What Time It Was — and You Told Him'

Who Remembers the Others?

There was the mutter of thunder in the air, and the far off flash of lightning, and the uneasy water in Iron Bottom Bay, like the night of the Battle of Savo Island. But in the jagged lightning could be seen the iron hulls upthrust through the water, grim testimonials to history that had been spent and almost forgotten.

Sitting lost in their own thoughts with unseeing eyes turned to the fatal waters were two figures, one American, the other Japanese. They were thinking of the night when the world for them ended. Then the American lifted his eyes to a home in Wisconsin, stopping to peer at a woman's beloved face and then to two sleeping children stirring uneasily in their dreams. And he was proud that he had died so that they could live in freedom.

The Japanese was thinking of the oily waters, the proffered rope, the refusal and the choking blackness. In his abstraction he smiled gently. He was proud of his death, of the man and the warrior, but most important that his death was a memorial to a lost attempt to throttle mankind's soul.

In the midst of their solitude a sound was heard. It had flown a long distance to them, over the far reaches of the Pacific, across the towering mountains and vast plains of the country of the American. Then too was heard the marching, and martial music; the quiet sobbing of mothers and widows, and then the explosion of matched musketry. And the American remembered.

"This is Memorial Day," he whispered.

The Japanese smiled at him. "They are remembering you," he said.

"They are remembering us," the American corrected gently.

But scarcely had the music and gunfire abated when into the silent void rushed another sound causing the two figures to writhe and anguish in torment.

It was the sound of a soul in agony, without hope. It was the noise of breaking bones, of concentration camps, of screaming. It was the shrieking wail of queued women machine gunned, of babies trampled from their mothers' breasts. It was the dying sound of proud faith that finally breaks under iron treads.

The Japanese turned, ashen faced, to the American whose body was quivering under relived death throes, throes.

"Those are the victims of tyranny," he declared desperately, adding "Who is remembering them?"

GOP Convention Vote On 'Right to Work' Upsets Pro Politicians

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — There were two kinds of people in the Republican convention hall at Milwaukee last week when, to the surprise of almost everyone, the convention defied the majority of the platform committee and Wyngaard in a resounding vote declared itself in favor of the principle of "right to work" legislation.

There were the non-professionals, the volunteers of the party organization who don't run for office and are not particularly concerned about the reaction of some powerful elements of the electorate. They carried the day.

There were also the professionals, the men holding elective office or hoping to hold elective office, who viewed the development with the utmost misgivings but who were unable to halt it in spite of some strenuous effort.

public opinion and electoral reaction — having been elected and reelected to office?

Why should the convention risk something so delicate, in an obviously difficult campaign year, in defiance of the considered judgment of men whose integrity and ability and judgment they had lauded so generously in other convention resolutions?

Why should this organization decide to commit itself to this volatile issue today, in a campaign that promises a delicate margin of victory, if any, over the opposition party, when it didn't arise during all of the years when the party relaxed in the comfort of huge electoral margins?

This convention resolution will give the CIO and the other militant organizations the ammunition their leaders have wanted to push the labor unions into firmer alliance with the Democrats. Some months ago the CIO raised a special fund to fight "right to work" proposals it was sure would turn up in the legislature. They didn't and so, presumably, that money remains on tap. Does anyone wonder how and where it will be spent this year in the campaign when every Democrat will be pledging his fealty to the unions?

THE REASONS

It may be that these convention delegates have heard their state ticket leaders denouncing the unions and their leaders so long that they reacted unconsciously and by rote.

It may be that this stick may be useful to galvanize the conservatives and the campaign contributors on behalf of the party this year, in a season when those worthies have had little offered to them to make them very excited.

It may be that — as some of these Republicans claim — that many union men actually resent the closed shop and union shop arrangements and would like a law that guarantees collective bargaining and other rights of organized labor, but guarantees also that a man doesn't have to join an organization as a condition of employment, anywhere within the state.

And there is at least a chance that the philosophical conservatives of the party organization, noting the aimless drift of their party on basic issues lately, have resolved that if they have to go down in the election battles this year they will go down on principle and with all hands at battle stations. If political parties ought to have some distinguishing marks, this is one that will distinguish Republicans and Democrats in such a way that there will be no mistaking.

Looking Backward

Decoration Day Observance, 1879

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of May 31, 1879.

Although the Decoration Day commemoration partook largely of the impromptu in its detail, it was a marked and memorable event in our city's history. The day was far from pleasant, a high wind prevailing and dust whirling to the extent that it began to be thought the procession would have to be abandoned.

However, Capt. James Lennon, chief marshal, appeared with the Germania Band and the Fire Department under the direction of Chief Engineer John S. Lester and Assistant Christian Heinz and a procession was organized. The Appleton Turn Verein, St. Joseph Benevolence Society, the officials of the city and citizens participated.

Conspicuous in the line of march was a large conveyance containing 17 young misses bearing baskets of flowers, followed by another with 17 young ladies carrying wreaths, chaplets, crosses and other beautiful flowery creations. The president of the day, Capt. J. H. Marston, was accompanied by Lt. D. C. Babcock, who bore a massive Crown and Cross symbol to the absent who rest in unknown graves.

The fire steamers were beautifully decorated, but the gale of the wind rendered it unsafe for them to accompany the procession for more than seven squares, on account of the danger of fire breaking out.

All eyes turned to the gallant band of surviving soldiers who to the extent of 50 in number marshaled themselves into line and marched all the way to Riverside Cemetery.

And thus with the band discoursing a solemn funeral dirge in fitting strain, while winds held high carnival above, the procession moved until it reached the cemetery where at least 160 carriages waited and 3,000 people were assembled on the grounds for the ceremonies.

Safer Driving Tips

Giving Back Seat Driver Few Duties Can Cut Down Crashes

Want to live longer? Here's one method: Become buddies with that person fidgeting in the back seat of your car—or right there beside you.

"Two heads are better than one when they're behind the wheel of a car," the National Safety Council says. It believes that the so-called back-seat driver may hold the solution to the traffic accident problem.

"We're in favor of motorists combining their driving knowledge and skill with the help of other passengers in the car can give," the council says.

It agrees that the term back-seat driver has a bad connotation. The motorist who's been subjected to nagging advice from the rear understandably takes a dim view of interference with his driving.

Spirit Needed

"But with the proper spirit on both sides, backseat drivers can be a real help," the council indicates.

Here are a few ways your passengers can help, the council explains.

1. Let your wife, for example, who used to sit with nothing to do on a trip, be your copilot. Her observations—a car sneaking out from a side street, a quick turn in the road ahead—can take a big load off your mind.
2. Studies show that the irritated driver is more accident-prone. The wife can help hubby cool off when he's upset over slow-moving cars or heavy traffic.
3. Giving other persons in your car something to keep them from getting bored makes the trip go faster for both of you—and keeps friction at a minimum.

Few Details

"In addition to her lookout duties, the backseat driver can handle many other details to make motoring more relaxing," the council says. Let her light your cigarette, keep down the roar of your kids in the back seat, and chart your course. There are a thousand and one things she can do for you while you're driving," it explains.

Bringing the back-seat driver up front with you—in other words, giving her responsibilities on a trip—eases your job of driving.

It may save a life—yours, or the life of the back-seat driver who used to get on your nerves, the council states.

4-H Club Leaders Learn Hints On Yeast, Sweet Bread Baking

Grains, such as corn, wheat, and add scalded milk and let cool to lukewarm. While the foods in our meals. They play a large role in the daily diet. In this country, wheat is the most important food grain. The millers take the kernels, re-flour and beat well: 75 to 100 move the germ and bran and strokes.

Outagamie 4-H club leaders met recently to learn the intricacies of yeast and sweet bread baking, and will pass what they learned through actual practice on to eager minds and anxious hands that belong to future homemakers.

When the fresh clean scent of homemade bread permeates a household, there's sure to be a treat for everyone on hand, impatiently awaiting the moment when they can savor a piece of warm, newly baked bread.

White Bread
2 cups milk, scalded
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons honey or sugar
1 1/2 oz. compressed yeast
or 1 package active dry yeast
1 cup water
3 tablespoons fat, melted
About 6 cups sifted enriched white flour

Method: Measure salt and lukewarm water and cover all sweetening into mixing bowl with a cloth.

Fold Into Dough
Fold flour into dough with hands or spatula and knead until it is smooth and not sticky. 8 to 10 minutes. It will begin to feel spongy and there may be small gas bubbles on the surface. Now put the dough into the bowl, turn it over so that there will be a film of fat on the top, cover and let it rise at a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees F., until double in bulk. It will probably take from 2 to 2 1/2 hours. If the room is cold, place the bowl in a pan of lukewarm water and cover all with a cloth.

Test the dough by pressing it lightly with the finger. If a dent remains, it is light enough and you may begin kneading—punching down with the knuckles of the hand. Fold sides over. If desired, knead five or 10 strokes. Cover and let rise again, until double bulk. This step which will take approximately one hour, may be omitted.

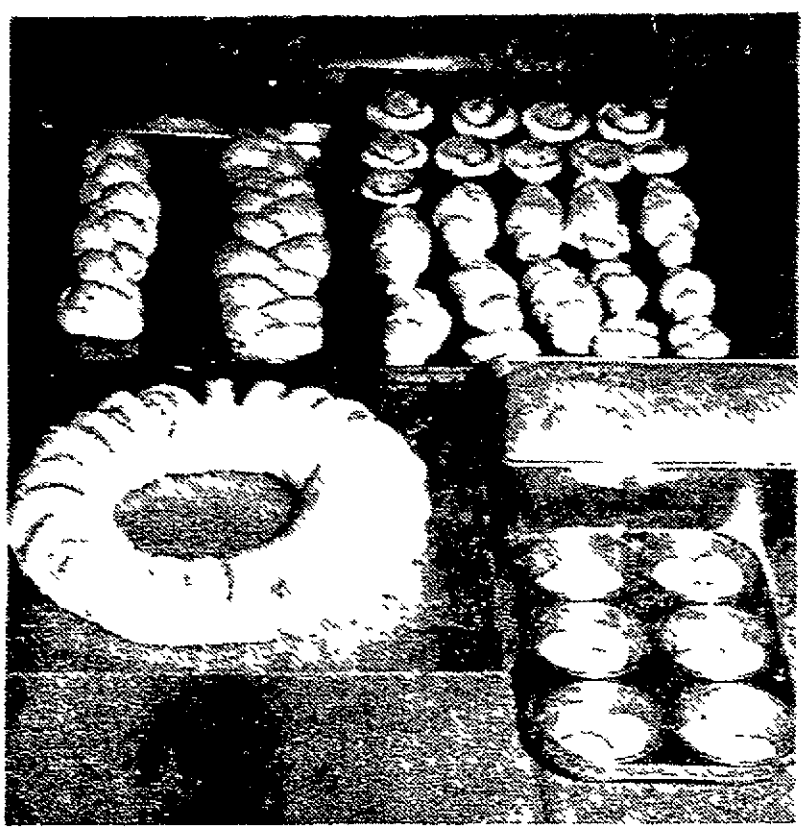

Turn the dough out on a board, using very little flour and divide into halves. Round up each half and cover. Let rest for 10 to 15 minutes. This will make the dough more pliable for shaping into loaves. Shape into loaves and place in 8 by 4 inch greased pans.

Let Rise Again
Again let the dough rise in the pans until double bulk for half an hour or longer at 80 degrees F., and then bake in hot oven (400 to 410 degrees) for 15 minutes and then reduce to moderate 350 degrees. Or use 375 degrees for entire baking time which will take 50 minutes to one hour.

If you plan to use compressed yeast, see that the portion of water is only lukewarm. Warmer water is used for the active dry yeast. Bread pans that are deep rather than wide and have almost straight sides produce bread with remarkable texture and shape.

Contracts in April Show New Increase

Residential Category Has First Boost of Year to $1,240,217,000

New York — Construction contracts in the United States showed a "highly encouraging" increase in April, according to complete figures for the United States by F. W. Dodge corporation.

Dodge vice president and economist George Cline Smith noted that this marked the first break in a series of declines which began last November with practically all categories showing improvement.

The April contract total for the United States was $2,881,011,000, an increase of 4 per cent over April of last year. The first three months of 1953 had been down 11 per cent below the same period of 1952.

The residential building category showed its first increase of the year in April. The dollar total of $1,240,217,000, amounted to a rise of 1 per cent, and the number of dwelling units covered by the contracts was up 4 per cent.

Dollar Volume
"The fact that units rose more than dollar volume in residential building," Dr. Smith explained, "was probably due to a sharp shift toward apartment buildings and 2-family houses, which have relatively lower per-unit costs. The number of units in 1-family houses in April was just about even with last year, but units in apartments were up 26 per cent and 2-family units were up 38 per cent."

The Dodge figures indicated that April contracts for non-residential building in April totalled $957,796,000, up 14 per cent from the year-ago level. This was also the first percentage increase of the year in non-residential building.

"The sharpest non-residential increases," Dr. Smith said, "were in public buildings, up 83 per cent, and in hospital buildings, up 53 per cent. The bulk of the non-residential increase, however, was accounted for by two larger categories, commercial buildings, up 19 per cent, and schools, up 4 per cent. Religious buildings also rose by 12 per cent."

"While contracts for manufacturing buildings were down 16 per cent in April, this is much smaller than the decline of 46 per cent reported for the first quarter of 1953, so that even this negative figure amounts to a substantial improvement."

Heavy Engineering
Heavy engineering contracts totalling $682,998,000, in April were down 3 per cent below April of last year. In this group, public works contracts were up 22 per cent, but public utilities were down 48 per cent. Dr. Smith noted that the latter decline was largely accounted for by the fact that two extremely large electric utility contracts amounting to $109,000,000 brought the April total last year up to an unusually high level.

"These figures have highly encouraging implications for business in general, as well as for the construction industry," Dr. Smith said.

The contract figures tend to lead changes in business activity, and while one month doesn't make a trend, the April contracts give some grounds for a more optimistic view of the business outlook.

The cumulative total of contracts for the first four months of 1953 amounted to $9,594,356,000, down 7 per cent from the like 1952 period. Cumulative total of contracts in the major construction categories showed: non-residential at $3,418,863,000, down 7 per cent; residential at $3,806,279,000, down 6 per cent; and heavy engineering at $2,369,214,000, down 10 per cent.

Forsythia Can Be Useful and Beautiful Too
Use It Effectively On Steep Slope That Is Difficult to Mow
By GEORGE E. CREED
A slope that is hard to mow can be effectively and attractively treated by planting with weeping forsythia (forsythia suspensa sieboldii). This variety drapes itself over the slope, furnishing a welcome splash of yellow in early spring and providing good foliage mass during the rest of the growing season. In addition, where the branches touch the ground they often take root, helping in this way to control slope erosion. Though the bright yellow flowers of weeping forsythia are not as profuse as those of some of the other forsythias, they are plentiful nevertheless.

By way of contrast in form and character another variety of forsythia, Spring Glory, is shown in the accompanying sketch. This is an erect-growing shrub that produces a veritable shower of pale yellow bells. If you like to force forsythia branches for indoor use in January and February, it

Handy Guide

Light System Check Vital in Home Buying

Here is an easy-to-follow summary of the 1953 light for living standards of the American Home Lighting Institute. Use them as guide when you inspect a new home or plan lighting in a remodeled one.

1. All light bulbs and tubes must be shielded to minimize glare, except in closets and storage areas. Shielding can be glass, or diffusing plastic. For fluorescent tubes, frosted or configured glass is satisfactory.

2. Each room should have at least one fixture controlled by a wall switch. The fixture can be a ceiling type, wall bracket, valance, cornice, or it can be built-in cove lighting.

3. Where a room has more than one entrance, there should be a switch at each entrance.

Living areas include the living room, dining room, or dining area, family room, den, bedroom, study, library, reception hall, sun room, and enclosed porch.

Light Needs
The size of the room determines the lighting requirement. An alternate method for each size is given.

1. Very small (up to 125 sq. ft.). A 12 to 15-inch ceiling fixture can be used, with either one 100-watt or three 40-watt bulbs. Alternate: 6 feet of cornice, cove, or valance lighting.

2. Average (125 to 225 sq. ft.). A 15 to 17-inch ceiling fixture should be used with either one 150-watt or five 40-watt bulbs. Alternate: 8 to 12 feet of cornice, cove, or valance lighting.

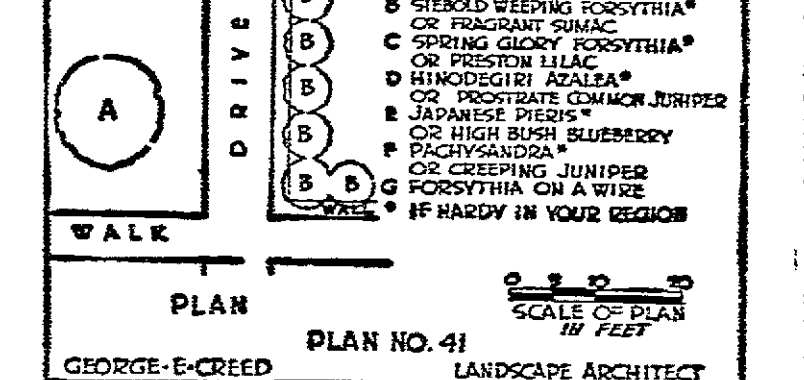

3. Large (over 225 sq. ft.). Sixteen to 20 feet of cornice, cove, or valance lighting are required.

For general lighting, use a minimum of one 12-inch fixture with either one 150-watt, two 75-watt, or three 60-watt bulbs. Alternate: A fluorescent fixture 20-watt, or two incandescent bulbs for each 4 feet of counter.

Halls And Stairways
For each 10 feet of hall, use a minimum of one ceiling fixture, wall bracket, or recessed fixture with a 100-watt bulb.

A wall or ceiling fixture should be at the top and bottom of each stair flight.

One fixture should be located at each side of the grooming area (mirror) and one located on the ceiling or wall above the

Finish at Home

Buy Unpainted Furniture As Help to Budget

An easy way to perk up your home, with little strain on the budget, is to purchase unpainted furniture and finish it yourself.

Room dividers are particularly effective in this furniture type, as well as sectional bookcases painted the same color as the wall to look as if they had been custom-built for the room. Other popular pieces are coffee tables and chests.

Before you begin the finishing process, put down newspapers or heavy wrapping paper on the floor and line up your materials.

First of all, make sure all cracks and nail head indentations are filled with a wood filler or spackling material. Use a knife, putty or even kitchen variety, to smooth the filling material into the holes. When it's dry, sand the entire surface until smooth, then dust off the loose particles.

As a first coating, apply thin shellac or thin varnish to seal the pores of the wood and to prevent subsequent coats from being unevenly absorbed.

The next step is to apply enamel undercoater if your finish coats are of gloss or semi-gloss. Before you begin, make certain that the undercoater is thoroughly stirred so that the entire quantity is of uniform consistency.

Flow From Brush
When the undercoat is dry, apply the enamel by flowing it on from your brush. Load the brush heavy enough to do the job but not so much that you deposit a pool of the enamel where you first contact the surface.

Unfinished furniture comes in pine, fir, poplar, cypress, redwood, maple, birch, beech and gum. According to dealers, gum and pine are most widely sold. Gum may be stained to imitate walnut or mahogany, or it may be bleached. You can stain pine to a rather good imitation of maple, but an enamel finish is usually preferred.

If you've admired the smart blonde furniture which is so popular, you can get the same effect with an unfinished piece, provided the wood is even in color. Bleach the article with a commercial chemical solution, available at paint dealers. Use rubber gloves while applying the bleach with a rubber sponge. Wet the surface evenly. Bleaches with a hydrogen peroxide base leave nothing in the wood to harm the finishing coats. When the wood is dry, sand it and finish with grooming area. Each should have one 20-watt fluorescent or one 60-watt or two 40-watt incandescent bulbs.

For wall-to-wall mirrors use a double row of shielded fluorescent tubes the full width of mirror.

For the laundry, utility room, workshop, and basement, there should be at least one ceiling or wall fixture over each work area. Use same type of fixtures described for kitchen areas.

Each closet should have a lamp receptacle. The unfinished attic and other storage area should have one fixture or wall bracket for each 200 sq. ft. of floor area.

Use a minimum of one fixture with a 100-watt bulb at both sides of each parking area.

There should be at least one fixture at each entrance. One or more directional fixtures or post lanterns are desirable for yard and driveway entrance areas.

Good Insulation

A wall of glass block has insulating properties equivalent to an 8-inch brick wall and insulates more than twice as well as an ordinary window.

New Elements Render World Maps Obsolete

Gaullist France, Middle East Dominated
By Nasser Will Demand Places in Scheme

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Paris — Long lines of trucks parked in the alleys of chestnut trees heavy with blossom. But as these words are written, there is no other sign that anything at all is amiss in this lovely city.

Paris in the spring, the most beautiful of all world cities at its most beautiful moment, has never been more enchanting or more outwardly peaceful. Yet the whole governmental system of France is obviously on the verge of a radical transformation.

At such a moment, the next event grows rapidly and unpredictably out of the last. The whole shape of things to come is formed by the elusive intermingling of accident and hubbub as these man intentions. In these circumstances, one cannot offer any more detailed than the obvious prediction of Gen. de Gaulle. And this present state of Paris, outwardly calm, inwardly seething, is a fair image of the present state of the whole western world.

Lebanon Disorder

Another visible focus of disorder, in Lebanon, too plainly hints what is happening in Paris is not a localized phenomenon. In Lebanon, the pro-western regime of President Camille Chamoun is under heavy attack by the forces of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser. Britain and the United States now stand committed to send troops to Lebanon if the Lebanese government requests this military intervention to protect its independence. The ponderous Globemasters are ready on the airfields here in Europe.

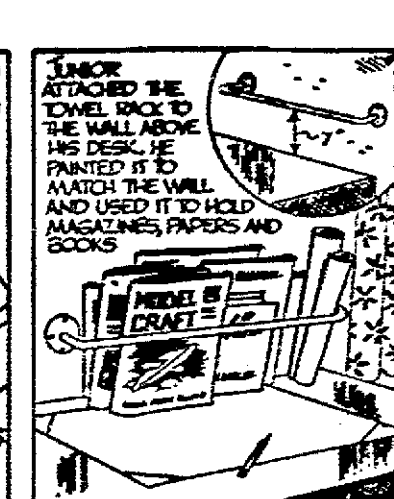

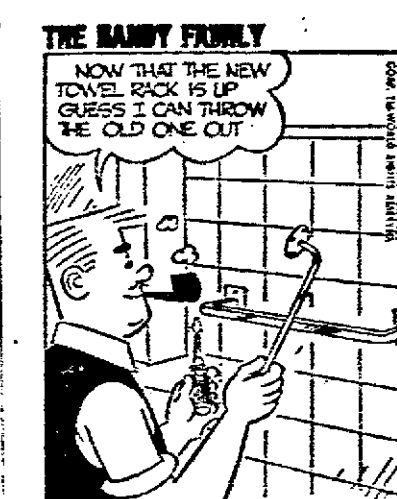

The bitter irony of this situation, only a little more than 18 months after President Eisenhower's self-righteous horror over Suez, seems to have been very little noticed. But if the military intervention is called for and takes place, the United States will be openly at war with the same strong popular forces in the Arab world that the British and French attacked at Suez. And this new U. S. British attack will have less chance of real success than the Franco-British attack that roused the president's pious indignation.

On the other hand, if President Chamoun and his government succumb to Nasser's onslaught, one can be sure that every other vital western position in the vital Middle East will eventually be lost to Nasser.

Map Obsolete

One can say, in fact, the map of the world as we have known it since 1948 is now being rendered obsolete. In that year two great events occurred. The Chinese communists won their victory, and the United States launched the Marshall plan. These two events determined the subsequent world balance. For a full decade thereafter, the world was divided into two halves. There were serious frontier incidents between these two halves of the world, but a precarious balance was maintained.

The balance is now breaking than the equity the homeowner has in his present mortgage.

Straight loans at 6 per cent interest are common at building and loan offices, with most home owners borrowing about $3,000 to $4,000 for improving their homes.

Most improvements, naturally, are for older homes, although many are for finishing that unfinished second floor as families increase in size.

Common need for loans are adding a garage to a home. Other improvements often reported are new heating systems or major remodeling projects.

There is, loan managers say, a growing tendency for homeowners to improve older homes, perhaps taking them out of the new home market and stabilizing older home prices.

Women Ignore Both Parking Laws, Tickets

Summerville, S. C. — A woman's police force recently was ordered to begin "rigid enforcement" of an ordinance against parking near fire plugs.

The weekly Summerville Scene reported the results: "It seems that a good many of the ladies have been ignoring the fire plugs and the law against parking within 10 feet of them. The police gave some of them tickets but they ignored these, too."

60-Year-Old Knife Preserved in Ground

Ponca City, Okla. — Pete Sherron was hunting for some firewood when he noticed the handle of a knife barely sticking above the ground.

He pulled it out and found a 9-inch blade of the Jim Bowie type. While the handle had rotted away, the original owner had carefully preserved the blade with a coating of tallow. It was estimated from markings that the knife was more than 60 years old.

Home Improvements Can be Financed by Short-Term Loans

If you're planning some home improvements and are short of money, check the loan market. Home improvement loans are common, usually short-term and money for them is easily available. There are two basic ways to get the money — a home improvement loan or adding to your present home mortgage.

FHA insured home improvement loans are for a maximum term of three years. Banks report the average loan is about $1,000 to $1,500. Interest charges for FHA loans are 5.42 per cent.

At building and loan offices and banks, conventional mortgages which were designed with an open end feature can be increased for home improvements, although not by more than the equity the homeowner has in his present mortgage.

Straight loans at 6 per cent interest are common at building and loan offices, with most home owners borrowing about $3,000 to $4,000 for improving their homes.

Most improvements, naturally, are for older homes, although many are for finishing that unfinished second floor as families increase in size.

Common need for loans are adding a garage to a home. Other improvements often reported are new heating systems or major remodeling projects.

There is, loan managers say, a growing tendency for homeowners to improve older homes, perhaps taking them out of the new home market and stabilizing older home prices.

Future Homes Destined to be Low, Colorful

Automation Will Take Over Many Daily Chores

Low, colorful and automatic—that's a thumbnail of tomorrow's home.

Housing's crystal-ball gazers see the home of tomorrow as a 1-story affair—probably with a ranch-type flavor—that is lavish in its use of color, centrally air conditioned and with an increasing number of automatic devices.

A growing emphasis on color, both inside and outside the home, is already evident, says the Tile Council of America.

"Floor and wall tile was once considered a bathroom surfacing material," says the council, "but since this material is now available in more than 200 different colors it is being used by designers throughout the home, including exterior walls, to add more color."

Kitchens of tomorrow will have more built-ins, all of them automatic, and there will be a continued emphasis on the "open design" aimed at making the kitchen an integral part of the living space in the home.

Intercom System

Another electronic gadget—just now coming into its own—that will probably be commonplace in the years ahead is the intercom system. In addition to saving footsteps, the intercom can be a home-wide extension of the hi-fi system.

Another trend already evident today, and likely to be standard in the future, is that of locating the laundry center near the bedrooms and bath. This is based on the theory that this area is the source of most soiled laundry, and modern washers and dryers eliminate the water problem generally associated with the laundry room.

It all adds up to a happy combination for the homemaker of tomorrow, say the crystal gazers, providing her with more pleasant surroundings, more leisure time and an easier home to maintain.

Pick Jochman To Paint Erb Park Pool

Work Scheduled
For Completion by June 12 Opening

Erb park swimming pool will be decked out in new paint when the pool opens June 12. The welfare and ordinance committee has decided.

Joseph J. Jochman, who submitted the low bid for painting work to the board of public works was awarded the contract.

He will apply one coat of a special white paint to all pool surfaces, including the two wading pools, except the center island which will be painted blue-green. His price is $1,006.85.

Work of restoring all four water valves to working condition, ordered earlier by the committee, is not complete, Chairman Harold Hannemann said, and cost of the improvement is unknown.

Pool Director Louis Precourt, who teaches school in Iowa, has told him. Hannemann said, he wants to try to start an adult swim night again this year, but only if there are sufficient people interested.

Hours for pool operation and swim classes will be announced by Precourt when he returns from his teaching job.

Other who submitted bids on painting and their prices include Lester J. Wuman, $1,734; Elmer Kranzsch, $1,847; Otto A. Obermeyer, Kaukauna, $1,650; Coonen and Wiedenhaupt, $1,387, and Appleton Paint Contractors, Inc., $1,094.

While The Student Body Solemnly stood by, Sea Scouts raised the flag Thursday at McKinley Junior High school. The outdoor Memorial Day ceremony was the last all-school program held at the school with junior high pupils participating. Next year, the school will be used solely for elementary grades. Firemen Called Twice by Police

City police called firemen about 3:35 this morning when chimney smoke, coming over the roof of nearby buildings looked like there was a fire in the Hesser Motors lot, 419 W. Wisconsin avenue.

Police also called firemen to Konz Box and Lumber company, 1727 W. College avenue, about midnight, where they said a semi-trailer truck was leaking gasoline.

The gasoline was draining from a tank on the truck after police caught two boys, 15 and 16, filling 5-gallon cans. The boys were taken to the station and turned over to their parents. Both youths are scheduled to have further talks with police tonight.

Firemen found nothing when they checked the truck. Police theorized the tank had drained dry by the time firemen arrived.

Heifer Killed When Hit by Car, Truck

Chilton — A heifer owned by Rodney Ott, route 2, Hilbert, was killed when it was struck by a car and a truck about 9:35 Thursday night.

According to Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky, the heifer was hit by a car driven by Ferris J. Dieckvoss, 40, Forest Junction, on Highway 57 about three miles north of Hilbert.

The impact threw the animal into the northbound lane of traffic and a truck driven by Darrel R. Blanchard, 42, Milwaukee, ran over her. Both the car and the truck were damaged slightly.

Mental Health Holds Campaign

Organization Seeks
To Raise $9,000
For Local Projects

A fund drive aiming for $9,000, all of which is to be used in this area, currently is being conducted by the Fox Valley Mental Health association.

Most of the solicitation is being done by mail.

According to material prepared by the organization, in the future officials hope to provide office headquarters, explore the possibility of providing a rehabilitation service for discharged mental patients, confer with allied groups to consider the need for family social services and continue present projects.

Last year, the association points out, members provided educational programs on mental health (speakers, films, panels and plays) for 60 organizations, gave services in the form of parties and gifts to Outagamie County Mental hospital patients, helped to interest psychiatrists in locating in Appleton, and cooperated with the Community Guidance center board by supporting, endorsing and promoting its goal.

All work is done by volunteers.

City Councilmen To Get County Golf Course Plea First

Ald. Thomas K. Schneider's resolution calling on the county board to build a golf course will be tested first in council committees, not the county board.

Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell last week referred the resolution to the county board when it was introduced as an item of new business at the council meeting.

After a conference with Schneider this week, the mayor agreed it would be more proper if the resolution was acted upon by the board of public works, the city's land agent, and the finance committee, the city's fiscal authority.

Seeks Council Backing

Schneider said Thursday he hopes to gain city council approval of his resolution so the resolution which is forwarded to the county board is endorsed by the council.

Schneider's resolution lists these reasons, why the county should build a course:

1. "The continued increase in the popularity of golfing has taxed the existing municipally-owned golf course to the fullest extent."
 2. "The cost and availability of necessary area in Appleton to construct an additional golf course is prohibitive."
- The finance committee meets at 7 o'clock Monday night at city hall and the board of public works meets at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at city hall.

Meeting to Set Responsibilities For Park Dances

Six city officials will meet Monday noon with Sr. Esler, holder of the city contract to supervise the summer park dances at Pierce park.

The meeting, at Hotel Appleton, will attempt to lay down definite lines of authority and responsibility for conduct of the dances. Ald. Thomas K. Schneider, chairman of the council's public safety committee, said.

Attending will be Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell, Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover, Park Supt. Harold Jerke, Chief of Police Walter J. Hendricks, City Clerk Elden J. Broehm, Esler and Schneider.

Last summer's dances were curtailed by then Mayor Robert Roemer, the late Chief of Police Herbert W. Kapp and Grover when rowdiness got out of hand. Esler, who is taking over the dances for the first time, has promised there will be no rowdiness this year, but has insisted upon all possible city help.

Downtown Merchants To Be Asked to Back Foxes' Booster Night

Members of the Appleton Downtown Retail association will be asked to sponsor a Fox Cities Foxes booster night.

Fred Eustice, ADRA chairman, said the request will be put to the group by Nathan Spector, baseball club director and downtown merchant, at the 9:30 Wednesday morning meeting of the association at the Conway hotel.

Association members also will be asked for decisions on May Appleton Day in 1959, the fall fashion program for this year and so-called tag days.

Need American Courage as Well as Arms for Peace, Draheim Declares

Senator Speaks At Memorial Day Cemetery Service

Neenah — America's strength, and therefore the peace of the world, lies in the courage and convictions of its people as well as in its mass of arms.

So said Sen. William Draheim today at a Memorial Day assembly at Oak Hill cemetery this morning as the citizens of Neenah and Menasha paid homage to the dead of several wars.

Hope that peace was finally here arose in 1945, when the world was hungry for peace. Draheim said, but even before the war was over Russia had launched a course of bullying, threats, broken promises, subversion and treachery. Before long all free nations were forced to unite in common cause for their mutual safety, with the United States as their ally.

Since that time the communists, unawed by American atomic weapons, have brought war to Greece, China, Indo-China and Korea.

Cannot Be Weak

"What have we learned from all of this?" the senator asked. "It has been clearly demonstrated that we cannot prevent war by being weak. Peace is earned by strength. And that strength is not wrapped neatly in any stockpile of atomic weapons alone. It lies as well in the courage and convictions of American men and women."

"Our armed forces constitute visible evidence of our will to resist aggression. The gallant dead whom we honor today are evidence of our national determination to resist those who would wrong us, who would pen us in, destroy our allies, press and hamper us, and finally trip and throw us.

"The communists, calculating aggression, must weigh our strength beforehand. Seeing us strong they will pause and hesitate, delay and defer. Thus we accomplish our mission: to deter war and its miseries by showing that it cannot pay the aggressor."

County Reports Dog Rabies Case

Oshkosh — Strict enforcement of dog licensing regulations and an effective stray dog control program were recommended by Dr. H. J. O'Connell, chief veterinarian of the state department of agriculture, in a rabies control meeting here Tuesday.

Winnebago county already has one case of rabies in a dog. Dr. O'Connell pointed out there were 74 confirmed rabies cases in the state last year and 84 already this year there are 84 confirmed cases.

In the event the rabies matter becomes a problem, the state chief veterinarian recommended education of the public in the need of controls, especially in the rural areas, a reduction in the skunk population as they seem most predominant in rabies cases, and, in case of necessity, a dog vaccination program.

Attending the meeting were county veterinarians, County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky, Oshkosh police and health officers and the Oshkosh dog warden.

Who DOESN'T Spill Mustard At A Picnic?

... or ketchup or pickles, or maybe just plain sit in the mud?

The family usually gets kinda soiled at a picnic, anyway. Those summer cottons come home looking pretty wilted. This is no reason why the day after should be a horrible wash day for Mother.

Get those cottons to us. The clothes will come back sized and fresh and crisp like new. The small cost is certainly worth the wonderful job done and the hot work saved.

Several Millions Worth of New City Projects Foreseen

Mayor Seeks Less Costly Plan, Different Site for Station

Neenah — Neenah's growing pains are going to mean several million dollars worth of new civic projects, Mayor Chester Bell told members of the Neenah Rotary club Thursday.

The new mayor, who took office only last April 15, made his first "report to the bosses," the taxpayers, and outlined this city's need for increased protection facilities, water plant additions, sewer construction and new schools.

The mayor said he would not go back to the people and re-submit the same plan for a police station as was turned down by 201 votes in the April 1 referendum. Although the construction price of the building was then estimated at $270,000, Bell said it would cost $340,000 lion gallons per day that the water is not even properly filtered to remove the hardness. Bringing the water department up to present needs will take about a year and about $3,000,000 Bell said.

Sooner or later a new 14-inch water main will be needed between Walnut street and N. Lake street, Bell said, but this might be postponed a few years by increased efficiency of the present water service.

Schools — probably about 2 million dollars worth — will be needed in the next several years, the mayor told the club. He referred to the need of new junior high facilities and new grade schools planned for the Edgewood and Gillingham areas of the city.

All these needs, Bell said, can be traced to the fact the city has grown by more than a third in the last 7 years and by more than 55 per cent in the last 17 years, the school population has doubled in 20 years, and about 875 acres of land—all needing city services—have been annexed to the city since 1950.

The bonded debt as of May 1 was $3,266,000, compared to $116,000 10 years ago, Bell said. He predicted that this would continue to mount as the city took care of its needs.

Before concluding the mayor, who has been in office only 45 days, expressed gratitude and commendation for the help he has received from other city officials. Without these men, said Bell, he and the citizens would have many more troubles than they now have.

and air force are ready all over the world for action anywhere, the legislator said, to prevent any aggressive move that would disturb or destroy peace.

Willing to Fight
The armed forces are reinforcing the will and skill of allied nations by military missions and aid groups, as well as being ready to fight, he said. "Your soldier and your flag in foreign countries demonstrate to our neighbors along the communist borders that we are willing to share the risk of facing the communists, eye to eye."

"They demonstrate that we are learning to avert war by showing our strength and determination ahead of time."

Sen. Draheim expressed confidence in the future. "Our comrades who gave their lives were not timid or fainthearted in the face of danger. We also need not be timid or fainthearted. We need not fear tomorrow. The dangers that seem so threatening will disappear if we face them bravely and grapple with them strongly. True, we face a threat of formidable quantity and force. There is no use fooling ourselves about that. We must, however, bear our part with determination and fortitude. I am confident that with the help of Almighty God we shall lead the world out of these dark shadows into a true age of peace," he concluded.

Heads West
The Daleys were headed west and were coming across the Chicago and North Western tracks, which parallel the Soo Line to the east, Tepp said. It looked as if they were going to stop but they didn't.

"The car engine was on the front of the tracks when they stopped. Then they tried to pull the car off and we hit," Tepp told county police.

The car was pushed 45 feet to the west side of the track by the train. Daley was pinned in the car and his wife was found outside the overturned car.

The train took 19 car lengths to stop. Identification was delayed because county police were unable to question the occupants of the car.

The roadway dips down between the two sets of tracks and also on the approaches to the pair of tracks. Being more of a private driveway leading to several cottages along the lake, the trains are not required to whistle, county police said.

Mrs. Robert Thom, senior class adviser; Principal and ty singing led by Joyce Mueller and dancing will end the program.

Master of ceremonies for the new NHS English teacher, and occasion will be Bill O'Brien, Miss Edith Cumming, NHS Guests will include Mr. and typing teacher.

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky Tuesday was granted a leave of absence starting in September to attend the first semester of the University of Wisconsin where he will receive additional training.

The county board in granting the leave agreed to pay the county's 20 per cent share of his salary during the leave. Peroutky is to aid and supervise 22 at the Valley Inn and on the work of his substitute during that period.

In another action the board granted a contract to A. R. and Miss Elizabeth Martin at Frerks company of Winneconne for a boat dock at the county park at Winneconne on his low bid of $1,775.

Airport Rental

Supv. Alvin Staffeldt, Neenah, aviation committee chairman, informed the board that monthly rentals to be received from the new terminal building would be $400 in landing fees and $195 in office rental from North Central Airlines, $150 plus 10 per cent of any gross over $12,000 from the rental car agencies, $25 for use of a taxi phone booth, $150 from the restaurant and $220 from the eight advertising panels in the terminal building, a total of at least $1,140 a month.

The board authorized hiring two part time janitors to work not over 75 hours each at the terminal a month and at a total cost for both janitors of $150 a month.

Chairman Joseph Drexler informed the board that Miss Jean Bethke of Milwaukee has been hired as the county's first dental hygienist. She will begin in the fall, working with the rural school children. She is now a student at Marquette university and will finish her dental hygienist course in June.

The county guidance center chapter invited the county board to share in planning for a guidance center indicating it would seek financial assistance for this center in the 1959 budget. This request was referred to the welfare board.

Pre-Nuptial Party Etiquet Is Traditional, Permits New Ideas

Neenah — Years ago when fathers were required to provide each daughter with a dowry of considerable sum before she could be considered marriageable, there was a beautiful young miss from a poor family who fell in love with the boy next door. And when it became known that her father couldn't afford to give her a dowry, a group of neighbors gathered and "showered" her with some of the useful and pretty things she would need in her own home.

The custom grew and now tradition dictates that friends and bridal attendants entertain the bride-to-be at pre-nuptial showers and parties.

The bride's mother is usually consulted as to her daughter's needs and the hostess states on the invitation whether the guest should bring linen, kitchen supplies, cooking equipment or personal items to form a little nest egg of necessary articles for the young woman.

Only friends who will be invited to the wedding should receive shower invitations, and not to more than one such event, unless they are members of the wedding party. Invited guests who cannot attend should properly send a present to the hostess who will present the gift to the guest of honor during the party.

If showers are given by co-workers from an office, the bride's mother, sisters and bridesmaids are excluded from the invitation list, although they are invited to affairs given by friends.

May Decline

When a hostess has erred in extending an invitation to a mere acquaintance of the bride, she is under no obligation either to attend or to send a gift. However, she must reply courteously to the invitation with a believable excuse.

Shower hostesses are wise to discover color schemes, the bride's needs and sizes, if it is to be a personal shower, and pass this information on to the guests to guide them in their shopping. Often those entertaining for the future bride ask guests to contribute a sum of money toward a large gift, such as an electrical appliance.

When the guest of honor arrives, the gifts should be assembled and waiting to be opened. She then opens each present and although she issues verbal appreciation, a personal, handwritten note of thanks is a thoughtful gesture.

Traditionally the hostess or a wedding attendant collect the ribbons from each package and fashions them into a bouquet for the bride to use during her wedding rehearsal. And broken ribbons as the guest of honor opens the gifts mean many children.

Include Fiance

While members of the bride's and the bridegroom's families may not correctly give showers, they may entertain at cocktail parties, dinners and luncheons. These events if scheduled for evening hours, always include the bridegroom to-be and the wedding party and toasts are usually proposed to the young couple.

Gaining in popularity are evening showers for the bride and the bridegroom and often friends of the young man gather to shower him with personal items as wearing apparel or smoking equipment.

In order not to tire the bride-elect, parties should be arranged with some consideration for her, particularly if she is still due at an office at 8 o'clock each morning. Fiances and attendants will also appreciate the opportunity to get sufficient rest before the big day arrives.

Decoration themes for showers are as numerous as the many types of bridal parties. A variety of novelty articles, such as pairs of wedding bells, bridal couple figurines and satin hearts can be purchased for the table decor. More memorable, however, are the original decorations made by the hostess to depict the theme of the party, such as a kitchen shower, china luncheon or miscellaneous party.

Gifts for a garden party might be tucked in an upturned umbrella tied with colored streamers, while utensils for a kitchen shower could be placed in a laundry basket or decorated waste basket, which serves as an additional gift. Packages for this type of pre-nuptial party can further carry out the theme by having small utensils such as measuring spoons, rubber spatulas or a pastry blender tied to the bow.

Although June is known as the traditional month of brides, many select dates in other months, from which themes can be used for the pre-wedding party. Hearts and flowers are reminiscent of February, while March suggests shamrocks. A barbecue party might be planned to entertain the bride-to-be in July, while a centerpiece of holly berries and pine boughs is appropriate in December.

Unless the party is a luncheon, dinner or picnic type, where an entire meal is served, the hostess usually prepares a dessert course and beverage for the brunch or afternoon party. Small frosted cakes or pastries served with coffee or tea are appropriate for this type of party.

Prompt Thanks

Regardless of how busy the bride-to-be's schedule is before the wedding, thank-you notes must be written promptly. By having writing materials set aside with a carefully kept list of guests and the gifts received, the bride can write several notes at a time during spare moments without making the task a chore. Folded sheets of heavy white or light-colored paper with blue or black ink are proper for the notes.

The notes can be kept simple and short, mentioning the gift by name and expressing appreciation for the thought. Each note should be individual although by necessity some phrases will be repeated. When one gift is received from a group, such as office co-workers, it is acceptable to send a blanket thank-you, sent to the group as a whole and passed to each person. Brief notes might be sent to each contributor or the blanket note might be followed by personal appreciation.

At any shower where people were not able to attend, but sent a gift, each should receive an individual thank-you.

Macs Collide With Harrison In League Fray

Meet in Makeup
Of Last Sunday's Postponed Clash

Menasha — The Menasha Macs bid for their second straight Fox River Valley league victory here Saturday night against Harrison. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

The contest is a replay of Sunday's postponement and will be Harrison's home game.

The Macs were slated to begin a busy weekend this afternoon with a doubleheader here against Oshkosh State college. They play at Oshkosh in a Valley league game Sunday afternoon.

After losing an extra-inning 3-2 decision to Manitowish in their initial outing, the Macs recorded a 15-1 pasting of Two Rivers.

Harrison Wins
Harrison is winless in two encounters. It fell to Oshkosh 18-0 in its inaugural test and then was beaten 11-2 by Kaukauna.

Who will be on the mound for the Macs depends upon how many pitchers are needed for today's twin bill against the Titans. Buelow is the probable Harrison hurler.

Last season the Macs scored two victories over the Harrison entry. "Bud" Koehnke hurled a no-hitter in a 17-0 win in Harrison's home game. The game here ended in the third inning and became a forfeit for the Macs. Harrison only had nine players and one was injured and couldn't continue.

Harrison hasn't defeated the Menashans since entering the league five years ago. It came out on top in one game in 1954 but the Macs protested, won the protest and then copped the subsequent replay.

Green Bay Jars Foxes, 16-2, As Bob Sedlak Wins No. 6

Jays Rap 3 Hurlers For 19 Hits

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox Cities Foxes were to play a day-night doubleheader with Green Bay today after helping the Bluejays fatten their batting averages in a 16-2 rout Thursday night.

Green Bay smacked 19 hits off three Fox Cities pitchers Thursday including three homers, three doubles and 3 singles. Meanwhile, the lethargic-appearing Foxes could generate just seven hits off Green Bay righthander Bob Sedlak.

Coasts to 6th Win
Sedlak, who was coasting to his sixth victory in eight starts, allowed single tallies in the first and fifth the only innings in which the Foxes were able to put as many as two men on base. The dark-browed flinger breezed third strikes home three times including three times past pathetically slumping "Sandy" Valdespino.

Valdespino, who started the game after being benched for half of Wednesday's contest, is now batting .147, which compares favorably only with his weight.

Sedlak walked two batters. Ted Sadowski started for the Foxes and for the first time in seven starts failed to go the route. He yielded seven runs on eight hits in 3 2/3 innings before Manager Pete Suder decided he'd watched enough. Sadowski is now 2-5, the loser of five straight.

Suder called on Dick Cameron and Pete let the left-hander stick around until he'd allowed seven more runs on nine hits in 4 1/3 frames. Utility man Bob Tano, jack of all baseball trades, took his first pitching turn of the season in the last inning and yielded Green Bay's last two runs.

Mitchell Hurls Tonight
Suder was hurting for pitchers what with righthander Burt Guenther on the injury list and a doubleheader coming up today.

Suder was to start righthander Ron Bloodworth (2-3) in this afternoon's game (2:15) and righthander Gary Mitchell (1-0) at Green Bay tonight. Bluejay manager Pete Reiser said Thursday he plans to use right-hander Ed Strickel (0-2) and either newcomer Bruce Polk, or Ed Rakow (2-4), both right-handers, in today's contests.

Bluejay shortstop Gene Wallace was the night's hitting star with six hits — a homer, double and four singles — in six trips. The Green Bay leadoff batter drove in four runs. Left fielder Sheldon Brodsky smashed a double and three singles in five trips and also contrived four RBIs.

BDM's Don Strutz to Defend Title in Fox Cities Tourney

Friday, May 30, 1958

Page 19

Has Captured Crown Two Straight Years

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Don Strutz will put his 2-year-old Fox Cities Amateur Golf tournament crown on the line June 21 and 22.

The Butte des Morts sharpshooter, who won the Post-Crescent sponsored tournament in both 1956 and '57, Thursday entered the 1958 edition of the 36-hole classic.

Strutz' entry brings the current total to four. Saturday, June 14 is the entry deadline for the 2-day meet which will be staged at Neenah Bridge-wood and Appleton BDM.

Strutz, assistant to the works manager at the Appleton Wire Works, has led the field after the initial day's play in each of the three years he has competed in the tournament. He did not play in the 1954 inaugural event.

Runs Into Trouble
In 1955, Strutz led after the first day at Bridgwood, but ran into trouble on his home course during the final 18 and finished in a fourth place tie.

In 1956, Strutz' first-day lead at Reid Muni held up, as a storm forced cancellation of the final day's play. Last year, he protected his first day's lead at Reid Muni through the second round at Neenah Ridgeway.

The Fox Cities titles are only two of the many golfing honors Strutz has earned. Among his other crowns are those won in the 1954 Northeastern Amateur meet; the 1947 Appleton city tournament; the 1957 BDM club tourney; the 1949 Midwest conference meet (which he won as a representative of Lawrence College); and a 1946 state college.

The tourney will be held at meet involving golfers from a 600-yard range three miles north of Appleton.

A re-entry match is being inserted into the tourney program this year in place of an MI match. The entry fee will be $1.50 for each match and there will be a registration fee of $1 per competitor.

Firing in the tournament will start at 1 o'clock on Saturday, June 28, and at 9:30 in the morning on June 29. Entries should be sent to James F. Gerits, 122 W. Seventh street, Kaukauna.

The tourney's rain dates are July 12 and 13. Raymond Michler is project manager. Menasha's Henry Johnson will serve as referee.

ARD Baseball School
Re-Scheduled June 9
The Appleton Recreation department-sponsored boy's baseball school will be held June 9 instead of June 7 as originally scheduled, Director E. W. Grover announces.

The session will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning under the direction of Fox Cities Manager Pete Suder and "Bud" Koehnke, of the ARD staff. Foxes players will also participate.

Hortonville '9' Swamps Algoma, 18-7, Reaches Sectional Meet Finals

Clashes With Fondy Saturday for Berth In State Tourney

Hortonville — The Hortonville High school baseball team blasted out 16 hits Thursday to swamp Algoma, 18-7, and reach the finals of the WIAA Fond du Lac sectional baseball tournament.

The Polar Bears will play Fondy's Cardinals — winners over Manitowoc — at 8 o'clock Saturday night in Fond du Lac for a berth in the state tournament.

In the sectional opener, the effects of a first-inning grand slam homer by Hortonville's Wayne Huebner were wiped out by a 5-run Algoma third. The Bears cut their deficit to 7-6 in their half of the third, then went ahead to stay with three in the fourth.

Hortonville made sure of the decision with a 7-hit 9-run sixth inning, that featured a bases-loaded triple by Lon Kringle. Dennis Sommers socked a triple, double and single for the winners, while Bob Broehm and Ken Huebner had three.

Ron Dibelius Works Out With Foxes

Marquette university basketball star Ron Dibelius worked out with the Fox Cities Foxes before Thursday evening's game, hitting a number of balls over the right field fence in batting practice.

Dibelius, who is playing with the Menasha Vics of the Fox River Valley amateur league this season is expected to get a further tryout with the Foxes next week, when the club returns from a road trip.

Dibelius, former star Menasha St. Mary athlete, is both a good pitcher and hitter. Foxes manager Pete Suder was greatly impressed with his prowess at bat.

Webb, Beecham Meet Tonight
Miami Beach, Fla. — "Spider" Webb and Jimmy Beecham, two rather learned prize-fighters with impressive ring records, match wits and wallop tonight in 10 scheduled rounds to be nationally televised (NBC).

Webb, sixth-ranked middleweight, was expected to weigh in at 159. Five pounds heavier than Beecham, who has a reputation for beating ranked opponents.

7 Area Schools Represented in NU Won't Let State Class A, B Track Meets Grid Cards Use

6 Rocket, 5 Terror Thinclads Compete in Milwaukee Saturday

Seven schools will represent the Fox Cities area in the WIAA Class A and Class B track meets at two different sites Saturday afternoon.

Appleton and Neenah will send a total of 11 athletes to the Class A meet in Milwaukee North stadium. The Rockets qualified six boys in six events in sectional action while the Terrors have five trackmen entered in six events.

Menasha, Clintonville, Kimberly, Bonduel and Seymour have nine boys entered in eight events in the "B" competition at Ripon.

Clintonville Bonduel and Seymour have one youth in one event, the Bluejays have four youths in one event — the 880 relay — and Kimberly's hopes rest on two athletes in four events.

Quade Has 1:31.8
Kenosha is the class A defending champion and again is sending a good-sized contingent to the state meet. Two Fox River Valley conference schools — Green Bay East and Green Bay West — are among the Class A entrants with the largest point potential. Milwaukee North is another strong entry.

Neenah's Jim Quade has the best Class A mile clocking of the year, a 4:34.8. Appleton's Don Loker ranks second in the state with a 4:36.9.

Other Terror entrants will be Dennis Tank in the pole vault, Howie Hamann in the high and low hurdles, Dick Kickland in the 440 and Dick King in the broad jump.

Tank's top vaulting effort of 12 feet is tied for third best in the state this year.

Neenah half-miler Wayne Rudolf ran an unorthodox 2:02 last weekend as he pressed Sheboygan North's Tom Cerull (defending Class A champion) to the best 1958 Class A time of 2:01.

Appleton finished second to Kenosha in the 1953 meet. Neenah's other entrants are:

sides Jim Quade and Rudolf, will be: Henry Quade in the mile; Jim Miller, low hurdles; Fred Seggelink and Jerry Hensen in the pole vault and the sprint medley relay team of Ed DenDooven, Dan Jack, Eric Anderson and Hector Fischer.

Anderson has been added to the medley team, which placed second at the Fond du Lac sectional, in place of Ralph Frank. Platteville is the defending Class B champion but is only sending two individuals and a relay team this time.

Has Fast Times
Kimberly's Darrell Jansen owns Class B's co-leading high hurdles time, :14.9. Jansen's :20.3 in the low hurdles also ranks first among Class B clockings. The sensational Kimberly sophomore has high jumped 6 feet, 1 inch — a mark better than that by any other Class B youth.

Kimberly also will have Joe Bolwerk in the pole vault Saturday. Menasha's 880 relay outfit consists of: Tom Stepanski, Dave Ristau, Ron Haass and Jerry Sobiesczyk.

Clintonville's Jerry Sinkewicz is entered in the 100-yard dash. Bonduel will be represented by

Sager Picks Sectional Net Team

Eight teams will send four representatives apiece to Saturday's WIAA sectional tennis tournament at Neenah High school.

The schools — Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kimberly, Marinette, Kimberly, New London, Oshkosh and Waupun — will start play at 9:30 in the morning. Play runs to completion.

"Chuck" Riley and John Zimmerman will compete for Coach Ken Sager's Appleton team in singles. The Terror doubles unit will be made up of Fred Junger and Marty Semmelhack.

Warrners-and-runnersup will qualify for the state tournament June 6 and 7 at Nicolet High school, near Milwaukee.

Phils' Granny Hamner Faces Another Crisis

Philadelphia — P. Granny Hamner, so wrapped up in baseball he once said he knew no other way to earn a living today is facing another crisis which may hasten the end of his playing career.

The spirited Philadelphia Phil's infielder is resting in a hospital his left leg in a cast after a 2-hour operation Thursday for a torn ligament in his knee.

"A Little Too Late"
Granny will have to be laid up from 12 to 15 weeks. Dr. Thomas F. McTear, Phil's physician said. He'll be in a cast four to six weeks and he'll spend the rest of the time getting a complete rest. He should be able to regain mobility in the knee.

"It's a little too early to talk about his playing again. He said it was probable Ham-ner 31, would not play again this season.

The Phils plan to place Hamner on the disabled list and call another infielder from the minors.

Hamner was injured playing second base in the second inning of Monday's game against the Los Angeles Dodgers in Connie Mack stadium Shining Charley Neal blocked Hamner while the Richmond, Va., infielder was trying to complete a double play.

Granny a Phil's regular since 1948, was hitting .301 and leading the team in runs batted in and doubles when he was injured. It appeared he was successfully making a comeback after a painful left shoulder injury drove him to become a pitcher to save his playing career last season. The shoulder prevented him from swinging a bat properly.

Last season Hamner was asked what he would do if the injury ended his active playing career. He looked shocked at the very idea shrugged and said, "Maybe I'll drive a truck, I don't know."

Declines Proposal Of NFL Club 'At This Time'

Evanston, Ill. — Northwestern university turned thumbs down Thursday on a proposal that the Chicago Cardinals professional football team use Dyche stadium.

The Cards are located in Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox, on the South side. Comiskey park has a seating capacity of 48,500.

Dyche stadium was built for football with a seating capacity of 53,500.

Better Serve Fans
The Cards claimed that by playing five home games in this suburb north of Chicago, the team's fans would be better served.

The Chicago Bears considered the North side team, play their home games in Wrigley field, home of the Chicago Cubs. Northwestern university's board of trustees turned down the Cards' proposal. The executive committee explained:

"Notwithstanding the financial benefit both to the university and the community of Evanston, the executive committee and the president (Dr. J. Roscoe Miller) after full consideration, have concluded that the proposal must be respectfully declined at this time."

Paul scored while "Potato" Pasual was bouncing into a foul ball.

Wallace's solo homer over the right field wall in the second inning of the first game brought home more in the fourth to give Spokane a 2-0 lead.

Robertson was led. Wade Armstrong and Bob Parker singled. Robertson scoring. Sadow right fielder and an infield out. Cameron was ejected. A foul ball after Howard walked down the line off lefty Cameron to give Spokane a 3-0 lead in the fourth.

Howard Homers

In the fifth, Green Bay led 4-0 with a solo homer by Brockton. Robertson was ejected. Sadow and Wallace again singled. The Foxes wrapped up the scoring for the evening in the last part of the fourth when Wade Cameron and Taylor put together a double play. Hazen's Howard leadoff batted in the sixth to lead the team to a 10-2 victory. In the eighth the Blue Jays added on in Cameron for four runs of five runs—scores by Wade Cameron and Brockton and doubles by Wade, Brockton and Broadway and a walk to Howard Tano, who was a pitcher earlier in his career. Walked to batters and allowed Brockton to hit single and Wallace to double in the ninth.

Fox Cities Families Depend Today... More Than Ever Before... On Low Cost Truck Transportation... For Better Living

A Truck was DESIGNED with a Child in mind---

A Child Grows

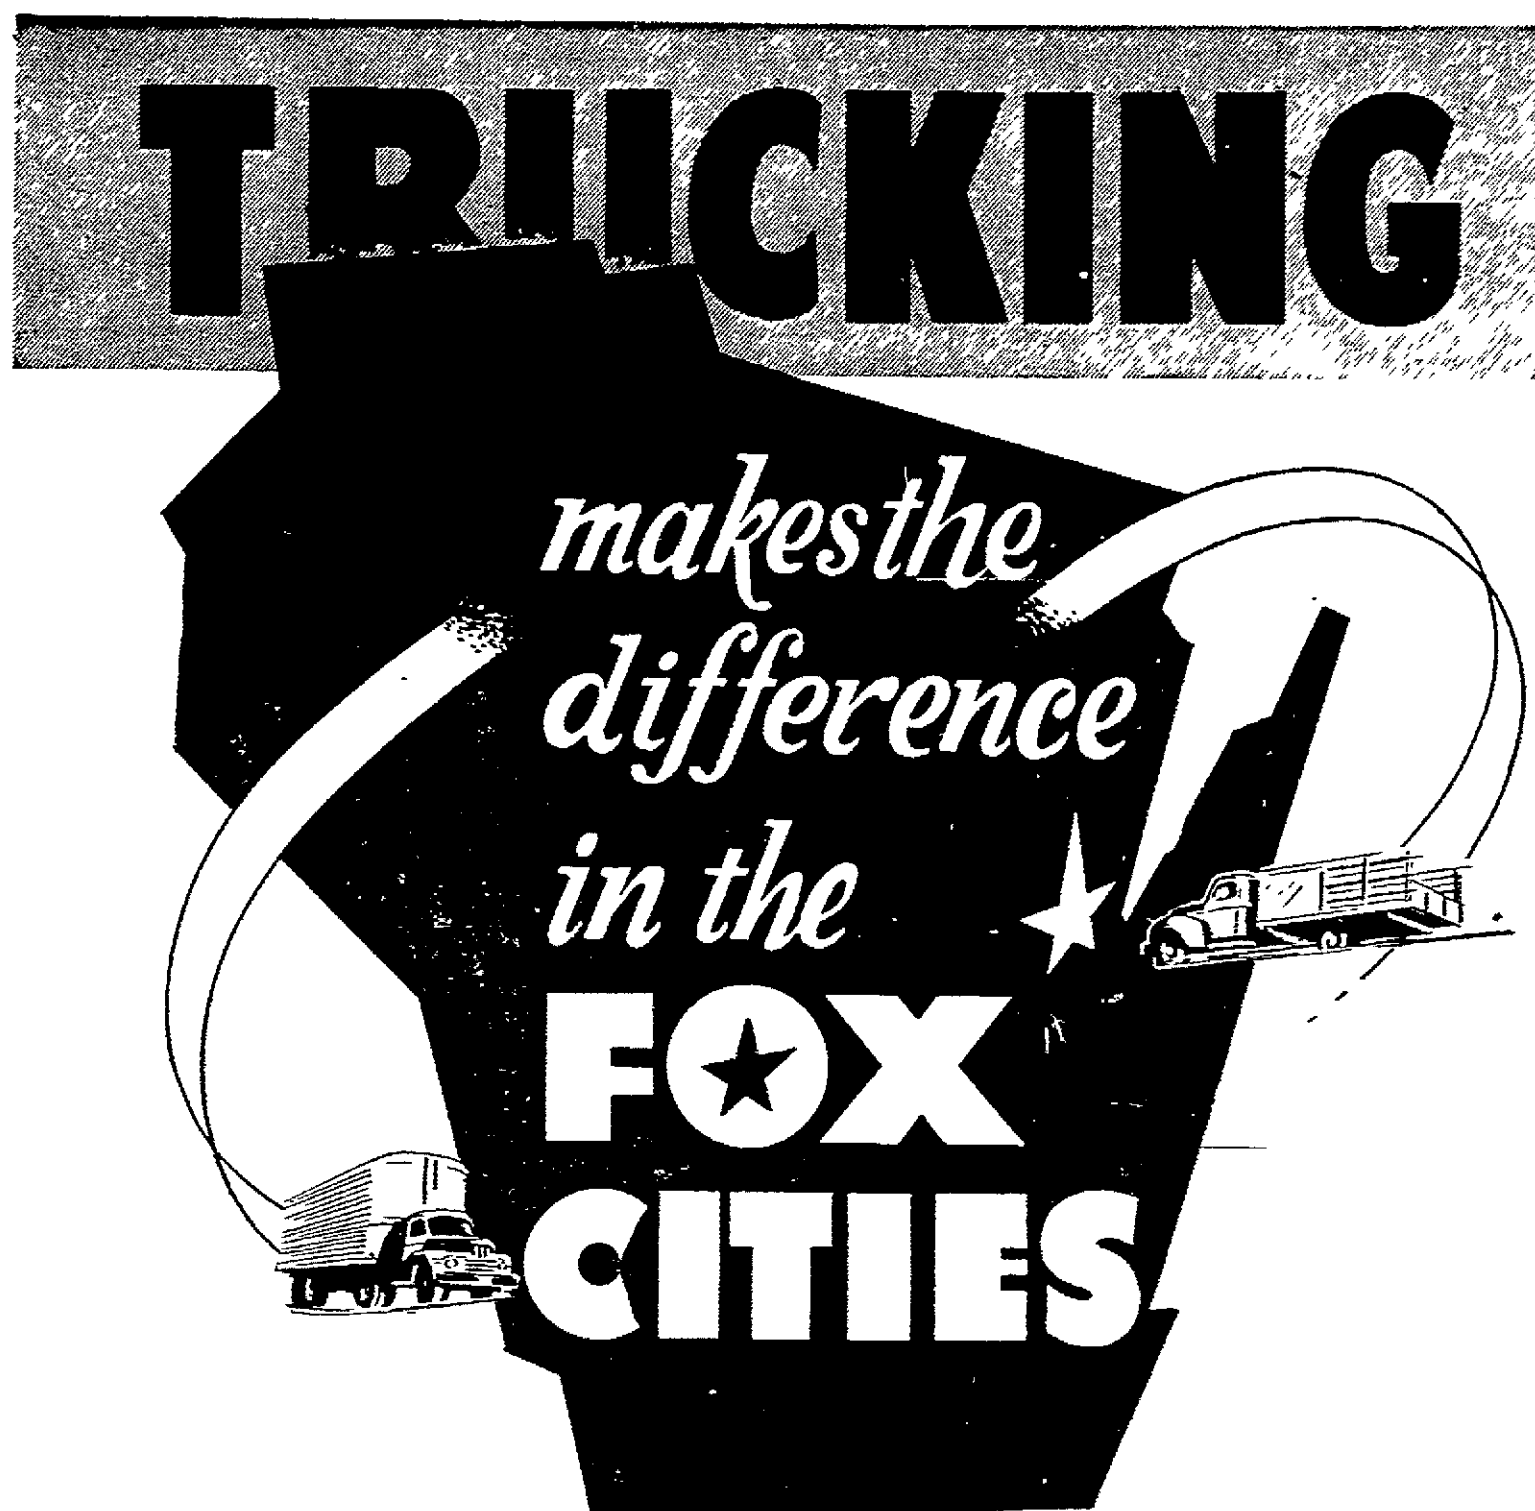

Three Ways!

... with curiosity, understanding and experience. Day by day, their curiosity coupled with their imagination flies a space ship to Mars ... runs their Dad's outboard motor boat up the Fox ... sits behind the wheel of a giant semi, or the truck that arrives daily at their door. As experiences teach them understanding, the realization develops that the truck brings all things of value to boys and girls in the Fox Cities.

They admire the great trucks that serve their home. The truck has brought their toys and sand for their play pen. The concrete driveway on which they play.

The food for their meals, the milk for a baby sister. The truck helps erect the big building down the street. In a child's world all things come by truck.

As they grow nearly every child wants to drive a truck ... experience will show them that the truck will provide them with employment someday. It will help make the roads they drive on or the space ports they fly from ... truly a truck was designed with a child in mind.
